

Mission Outrageous™ Overview

In this outrageous adventure, your group will be challenged to walk the line between competition and collaboration utilizing technology and ingenuity. Teams can choose to complete challenges that draw on their physical, intellectual and creative strengths. This mobile app-based adventure allows groups to forge their individual paths toward a common goal in a fun and sometimes outrageous way. Mission Outrageous is particularly useful for goal-setting, exercising strategy and communication, and is perfect for larger groups.

Your Team's Outcome

Renewed connection, commitment to mission, confidence and energy for the work ahead. Mission Outrageous presents as a half-day program for groups of 10 to 1000, or can be used in a multi-day program to reinforce additional learning.

How Mission Outrageous Works

Mission Outrageous' team development process encourages teams to bond through fun and creative challenges. The mission: complete challenges, collect clues, and solve the mystery. There are multiple types of challenges from creative photo and video challenges, mental challenges and physical challenges too! As the adventure unfolds, teams discover that collaboration is the key to success, as diverse tasks tax limited time and resources. The competing objectives of maximizing points for your team while ensuring success for the larger whole mirror the challenge of leading successful teams while maintaining focus on the organization's mission.

The mission begins with a brief overview of the technology, an opportunity to practice, and time for strategic planning. As teams disperse to begin their mission, some of the individual tasks call for collaboration with other groups to achieve success. As the mission ends, teams return to a central location to perform additional challenges, pool resources to solve the mystery, and see "Best Of" photo and video submissions for select challenges.

A skillfully facilitated debrief identifies your group's capabilities and opportunities for development and ensures maximum transfer of learnings and commitments.

Clients Say

"Our experience was amazing! Synergy did such a great job. Our team can be tough to impress but Synergy does it every time."
